FEAR OF DISGRACE CAUSED SUICIDE

Common Belief George Hays Took His Life Because he Dreaded to be Exposed.

BY SUSAN FISHER, A NEIGHBOR

He Offended Her and She Placed the Case Before Grand Jury Yesterday.

That George Hays, the prominent Orange township farmer who committed suicide by hanging yesterday, lived in constant fear of disgrace that might be brought upon him by a widow, a neighbor of his, and that this is what caused him to take his life, is the common belief which is being expressed in Orange township as well as in this city and in other parts of the county where the suicide was known and where the case has caused somewhat of a sensation.

It is common rumor that Hays offended recently Mrs. Susan Fisher, a woman of forty-five years of age, who lives about four hundred rods south of the Hays home. It is said that Mrs. Fisher had threatened Mr. Hays that she would bring charges against him and that she did go to Greensburg and consulted her attorneys. They, so the story runs, told her to come to this city and lay the matter before the grand jury.

Mrs. Fisher appeared before the grand jury here yesterday morning and it is said that she recited the story of the manner in which she is alleged to have been wronged. It is a common tale in Orange township in the neighborhood of the recent tragedy that Hays went to the home of Mrs. Fisher yesterday morning and inquired as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Fisher after he had seen her drive along the road in front of his home in the direction of Rushville. It is understood that Hays was told that Mrs. Fisher had gone to Rushville to lay the matter, about which she had complained, before the grand jury. Shortly after that, it is said, Hays disappeared in the barn and was later found hanging from a rafter.

Mrs. Fisher testified before the grand jury yesterday morning. Nothing definite is known of the nature of the case which she recited to the jurors only in that it was said to be a very mild one. It is the rumor here today that the alleged offense which Hays committed was not a grievous one, which should require such drastic action as Mrs. Fisher took, if it is as she told it before the grand jury.

Mrs. Fisher is the widow of Ruben Farlow and the widow of Stellite Fisher. She resides with her two sons, one of whom is married.

Coroner Shanck of Arlington returned his verdict in the suicide case this morning. He found that death was due to hanging and that no poison was taken by Hays before he tied the noose around his neck. The coroner and the attending physician felt certain that Hays did not take poison as they could find no evidence of it, but to make sure a post mortem over the body was held yesterday evening and no traces of any poison could be found.

The first surmise that Hays had taken poison was due to the fact that he had one spasm after another when he was cut down, which is not a common thing after hanging, but is more commonly the effects of poison. It was found that the rope around Hays' neck had fractured the second cervical vertebra which pressed on his spinal chord. This, according to the coroner, caused the spasms and caused him to linger as long as he did.

YOUNG MAN GETS "STUNG"

Thought Democrats Would Have to Celebrate Between Dances.

When the Democrats of Rush county announced that they would hold a jubilee or celebration in the Modern Woodmen hall on the evening of "Sherman day," following the lead of the Republicans who planned a love feast for that night, a local young man who had the hall rented for that night sat up and took notice. He decided that if the Democrats were going to meet there, they would have to do their celebrating between dances. But he was doomed to disappointment. He learned upon inquiry that he was second choice and that the Democrats were given the privilege to use the hall even after it had been promised to him.

PETITION MAY TRAVEL IN CIRCLE

Court Attaches Figure Out Case of Basil Seward Will Eventually Come Back Here.

HE TAKES A CHANGE OF VENUE

Attaches of the Rush circuit court were mapping out this morning the circle in which the petition of Basil Seward for a saloon license which was refused by the commissioners and which was appealed to the circuit court yesterday afternoon, will travel, as Seward this morning, through his attorney, Donald Smith, took a change of venue to the Fayette circuit court. In case Judge Gray of Connersville does not grant him the right to open a saloon in Rushville, the county commissioners will refuse to grant him a license if they act as they did in the matter of the petition. The result will be that his attorneys will have to bring mandamus proceedings against the commissioners in the circuit court so that the case will again come up before Judge Blair from whom the change of venue was taken today.

LAST REHEARSAL TOMORROW NIGHT

J. Walter Wilson Will go to Indianapolis Tomorrow to Get Costumes
For "Old Folks Concert."

LARGE CROWD IS EXPECTED

The last rehearsal for the "Old Folks Concert" which will be given in the coliseum in the city park Monday night for the benefit of the Rush County Chautauqua Association will be held in the court house assembly room tomorrow evening. J. Walter Wilson, who is directing the entertainment, will go to Indianapolis tomorrow to get the costumes for the company. Tomorrow night at rehearsal he will give them out and everything will be in readiness for the concert. The members of the company will dress at their homes and go to the coliseum in costumes.

Everything points to the success of the home-talent concert. The fact that Walter Wilson is managing it is enough within itself to insure the success of the event. The single admission tickets which are only twenty-five cents are going fast and indications are that the crowd will be a large one.

CITY COUNCIL HEARS MUCH LAW

Attorneys Argue on Perkins Street
Paving Question, Which is Special Order of Business.

TO INVESTIGATE THE TITLES

Grants Permission For Use of Streets to Horse Show and to Decorate Between Cluster Lights.

At the close of the city council meeting last night, Perkins street was about as near paved as it was before the meeting convened. The Perkins street paving question was the special order of business last night and most of the session was given over to the attorneys for the petitioners and remonstrators, who cited the laws and tried to get at a working basis.

After hearing the law and discussing the various phases of the question it was practically decided that if the remonstrance was to stand it would be necessary to investigate the titles to all the property on the portion of the street to be paved and determine who and how many were resident property owners. In this way it can easily be determined whether or not the remonstrance has a majority. It was decided that the titles be looked up and the council meet in special session Friday night when the matter will be decided.

It is necessary to investigate the titles in order to see who had the right to sign the remonstrance and petition. A large part of the property involved is held under joint titles and if both holders are permitted to be counted the total number of resident property owners will number close to forty and the remonstrators will have a majority. One instance of where both holders signed the remonstrance is that of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Gwynn. It is understood that Mrs. Gwynn owns the residence and Mr. Gwynn has the title to the livery stable. It appears that Capt. Gwynn will have to live in John Hiner's livery stable to make his name count on the remonstrance. The outcome will be watched with interest and the fight for a majority will be close.

J. T. Arbuckle appeared for the remonstrators and read the remonstrance to the council. He stated that the remonstrance had been filed within the ten days limit after the council had passed the preliminary resolution. Mr. Arbuckle stated that there were thirty-four resident property owners on the street and that the remonstrators had 20 names or a majority.

John Kiplinger representing the petitioners wanted the council to hear evidence in order to prove who were resident property owners and who were not. This was what the council finally determined, on when they decided to investigate the titles and a great amount of time would have been saved if the council had acted on Mr. Kiplinger's suggestion. Mr. Kiplinger showed the council that the names of the Rev. W. J. Cronin and Mrs. Gertrude Conde had no right on the remonstrance. Mrs. Conde does not live on the street and the Rev. W. J. Cronin lives on the street, but does not own the property. The two names were taken off the remonstrance. It was discovered that Mrs. Nancy Furry had signed both the remonstrance and the petition. It was not decided what should be done with her name. Mr. Kiplinger pointed out that in his opinion the name of W. S. Shropshire had no place on the remonstrance. Mr. Shropshire lives on Third street and owns property on the corner of Third and Perkins. This is one of the questions to be determined.

REVEALS PRICES PIONEERS PAID

Old Ledger Unearthed in Vicinity of St. Paul Shows Cheapness of Commodities 50 Years Ago.

HORSES WORE HOBBLES THEN

Eggs Sold For 7 Cents a Dozen and Butter For 15 Cents a Pound—
Other Prices.

Eggs sold at 7 cents a dozen and butter at 15 cents a pound in the vicinity of St. Paul half a century ago. That was before the high cost of living began to pinch. It was when women wore linsey dresses and the grandfathers used bed cords instead of mattresses.

One of the oldest buildings in St. Paul is a frame structure in which Cumberland Riden kept a general store when Indiana was a forest and swamps. In the back room of this old building are several books which belonged to Riden. One of these is a ledger containing the accounts of his customers. The first account in this book is one brought forward under the date of 1852. This is a condensed account and one has to pass to the entries made during 1855 to get an insight into the business which Riden had in that early day. Many articles enumerated in this ledger are mysterious to the present generation.

In those days hobbles were all the rage for horses. Women never had thought of adopting them. The prevailing texture for women's gowns was "drilling." Only the old people of the present day understand what "drilling" was. Another common dress goods was "linsey" a cloth that is little known now.

On the old ledger entries appear, "1 yard drilling, 12c; linsey, $2.10." A third reads "three yards check, 50 cents." Calico sold at 15 cents a yard, and brooms at 20 cents each. Canton flannel was quoted at 16 cents a yard, crocks at 25 cents each, eight penny nails at 7 cents a pound and coffee at 15 cents.

Sugar brought 8 cents a pound and silk hat, $1 each, while a good pair of boots could be bought for $3.50. Optometrists will be interested in the item which quoted "specks and ease" at 70 cents.

Sugar sales were few and apparently only the wealthier class of people used it. Molasses was substituted. Running down the charge column one meets the familiar word "molasses" frequently. This sweet sold at 40 cents a gallon.

Candles, candlesticks and bed cords were in great demand. One man bought a Bible and a candle. One bed cord sold for 35 cents. These cords were small ropes used under the straw tick or feather bed. They were laced from one "arm" of the bed to the other and were looped

OLD SOLDIERS TO MARCH

Will Attend Republican Love Feast in a Body.

Jabez Smith, post commander of the local Joel Wolfe post of the Grand Army of the Republic, today announced that all of the old soldiers of the city and county will march to the coliseum on the night of "Sherman day" to attend the Republican love feast and smoker which will be held there. Mr. Smith has issued a call requesting all of the old soldiers to meet at the court house at six o'clock that evening so that they may march in a body.

around pins. Every bad "arm" in those early days was supplied with such pins. The bed cord antedates the bed "slat."

A dozen candles sold for 20 cents and a fine comb for 15 cents. Tea sold for 75 cents a pound and "three yards of debarge" for 75 cents.

Thread on spools was such a novelty as to command double the price it is now sold for. Half a century ago thread was put up in skeins and one had to handle it deftly to avoid tangling it. One entry on the ledger reads, "patent thread," 10 cents."

Mr. Riden sold everything from a dozen envelopes to a farm wagon. A sale of a farm wagon for $65 is an interesting entry. George Hollis, a good customer of the store, bought tobacco. His account dates from February 26 to April 23, the total footing being only $1.75. Riden paid the spring taxes of one of his customers and entered the amount, $1.95 against his account.

ALL BETS OFF AT SIX O'CLOCK

Lieut. Gov. Hall is "Interviewed" in Indianapolis and Says Democrats
Are up and Doing.

TELLS OF RUSHVILLE'S BIG DAY

Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall who was in town last night, said that his home town of Rushville will be the scene of more politics next Tuesday than has been in any Indiana city in many a day, says the Indianapolis News this afternoon. And he says the Democrats do not propose that the Republicans shall have a monopoly on the affair. Vice-President Sherman is to be in Rushville on that day as the guest of James E. Watson, and arrangements have been made for a big nonpartisan reception and "blowout."

"During the day Republicans and Democrats will work together like brothers," said Mr. Hall. "We will all dwell in peace and harmony, and there will be no politics about it. But all bets are off at 6 o'clock in the evening. After that hour each party must take care of itself. I promise that then Republicans will not have anything on us, as far as the night meeting is concerned."

FREE ATTRACTION FOR HORSE SHOW

Warrior Company of Chicago is Wiried to Come and Give Daily Entertainments.

TWO NEW CLASSES ARE ADDED

The horse show officials today wired the Warrior Company, acrobats, tight wire walkers and trapeze performers, to come here and appear at the annual fall horse show which will be held Wednesday and Thursday, October 18 and 19. The company will give two free performances daily, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. It is said to be a high class company and comes well recommended to the officials.

At a meeting of the horse show officials last night it was decided to add two more classes which are not on the premium list to the light harness department on account of the large number of entries. The two additional classes will be for one-year-old and two-year-old mares and for one-year-old and two-year-old geldings.

CHAUTAUQUA IS STILL IN DEBT

Treasurer's Report Shows the Association Owes $731.36 With $100
Subscription Money Due Yet.

WOULD REDUCE DEBT TO $500

New Directors Not Elected on Account of Small Attendance—Another Meeting Friday 13.

Friday, the thirteenth.

The stockholders of the Rush County Chautauqua Association will attempt to change their luck by holding another meeting then to elect new directors. Last night only six stockholders were present including the president and the secretary of the Association. In view of the fact that the stockholders were not very well represented it was deemed best not to elect at that time but call another meeting for that purpose. The report of the treasurer was heard and an auditing committee appointed by President Lincoln Guffin to audit the reports of both the treasurer, Earl H. Payne and the secretary, Prof. J. H. Scholl.

The reading of the report of the treasurer to show the financial condition of the association was about the only important business transacted at the meeting. The report shows that the association is in debt $731.36. It is expected that that amount will be reduced to amount to $635 in the near future as there is still about $100 outstanding in subscriptions made for the new coliseum. It is thought that the proceeds from the "Old Folks Concert" which will be given in the coliseum Monday evening for the benefit of the association will reduce the debt to about $500.

The stockholders of the association feel that the association is thriving if it is possible to begin the next assembly only $500 in debt in view of the fact that the coliseum was erected this year at a cost of about $2,000. It is likely that enough will be cleared on the chautauqua next year to put the association out of debt which will be somewhat of an achievement to erect a coliseum at the cost of about $2,000 and then pay for it in two years.

The treasurer's report showed that the total amount of expenditures since the report was made at the annual meeting of the stockholders in 1910 was $3,866.23. The total amount of receipts for the whole year amounted to $3,884.87. This leaves a cash balance of $18.64 on hands.

The total receipts for last year's assembly which includes the balance of $255.45 left over from last year, were $2,641.90, collected in the following manner: Sale of single admission tickets, $1,029.20; sale of season tickets, $1,277.25, and stand rent, $80.

The disbursements for this year's assembly were, $2,081.72, and were paid out as follows: Talent, $1,567.60; labor, $186.05; seats, $106.26; lights, $84.47; fence, $24.29; advertisement, $80.70; tickets, $6.60 and miscellaneous, $23.75.

The total disbursements subtracted from the total receipts of this year's assembly shows a balance of $560.18. The profit on last year's assembly, $249.19, which amount was included in this year's receipts, subtracted from the balance leaves $310.99, which is the amount made above all expenses on this year's chautauqua.

The cost of the coliseum was itemized as follows in the treasurer's report: Tabernacle, $300; tearing down, $130.70; to erect it in the city park, $376.90; roof, $325; lumber, $573.14; insurance, $30; closing at the end of assembly, $17.10 and lumber, $22.25, which makes the total

The Life-Giving Stream. Ezek. xlvii:1-12. Read Rev. xxii:1-5.

Golden Text—Whoever will let him take of the water of life freely. Rev. xxii:17.

(1.) Verses 1-2—What does water, when used as a figure in the bible, generally stand for?

(2.) What house is here referred to, was it a real or imaginary house of God?

(3.) What are the influences which flow out from the house of God?

(4.) What blessings have Christianity brought to the world?

(5.) In how many ways is Christianity propagated? Specify some of them?

(6.) Verse 3—What are the chief means by which we measure, or test the beneficent influences of Christianity?

(7.) What is the least personal experience a person must have to constitute him a real Christian?

(8.) What are among the first blessings which come to an individual, a community, or a nation, on the adoption of Christianity?

(9.) Verses 4-5—What if any special blessings are there for the children of God, after conversion?

(10.) What are the limits to the possibilities of personal Christian experience?

(11.) What is your conception of the meaning of the figure "water to swim in"?

(12.) How may our growing conception of the love of God be illustrated with this figure of swimming in water?

Biliousness is due to a disordered condition of the stomach. Chamberlain's Tablets are essentially a stomach medicine, intended especially to act on that organ; to cleanse it, to strengthen it, tone and invigorate it, to regulate the liver and to banish biliousness positively and effectually.

PEOPLE WANT TO SEE PRESIDENT

Taft Makes Western Trip Only After

Many requests For Him to Make Speeches.

DELEGATIONS VISITED HIM

Spontaneous Demand For Nation's Highest Executive Came From All Sections of Country.

Washington, Oct. 4, 1911.—Why is President Taft crossing the continent poaching on Insurgent preserves—if you believe all you hear—invading the enemy's country?

Acres of newspaper articles have "illuminated" the topic.

"An elaborate defense of his Administration," says one.

"A tour to educate the American people," says another.

"A campaign for renomination," declares a third.

"A bold deft to the enemies within his party," is yet another solution.

All these solutions are necessary to the individual who habitually rejects the obvious. They include every reason except the real one. And the real reason is that the people of the United States want to see their President.

It was made perfectly clear to Mr. Taft and secretary Hilles months ago One invitation after another rolled in on the White House. One delegation after another made its representations. Governors joined in, and Senators and Representatives. Mayors of cities wrote on, and committees wrote, and telegraphed, and used long distance telephones, and traveled thousands of miles to Washington to bring it home personally to the Chief Executive. The people had been reading about President Taft—reading about his great work for international arbitration; about his peace policy, that looked like war, that restored quiet and order in the Republic of Mexico; about his devotion to duty, his disinterestedness, his honesty, his strength of purpose. Before that they had been reading that was at first only ankle deep?

(13.) Verses 6-7—From an art and utilitarian standpoint what do trees represent?

(14.) Show how Christianity ministers to the all-round needs of humanity.

(15.) Verse 8—For what class of people is Christianity primarily meant?

(16.) The waters here referred to probably emptied into the Dead Sea. What is the nature of the water of the Dead Sea?

(17.) Nothing could live in the Dead Sea; what effect was this living water to have upon it?

(18.) What effect has Christianity upon countries that are cruel?

(19.) Verses 9-11—What is the effect of Christianity upon material progress, inventions, manufacturing and commerce?

(20.) Verse 12—What effect does Christianity have upon sentiment, happiness, enjoyment of life and human love? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

only the lies and libels, the distortions and misrepresentations. But as the light broke through, the public began to see a Taft new to them, the real Taft, and they concluded that they'd like to meet him and show him that they were sorry. Therefore, quite naturally, every enterprising community in the country, recognizing the public demand, looked about for the creation of suitable opportunities which might well be graced by the President's presence.

The demand did not come solely from the strongholds of that brand of Republicanism denominated "Regular." Texas, Democratic, was just as eager to invite Mr. Taft, as Michigan, Republican. "Insurgent" Nebraska, Oregon, California, where in the vanguard. The men most insistent that Mr. Taft should come and visit with them, are to be found among the leaders of the Insurgent cause. Kansas would never have been "invaded" if Bristow, right hand man of LaFollette, hadn't demanded it. If it hadn't been for Insurgents like Cooper, Wisconsin wouldn't be on the President's itinerary. California was perfectly "crazy" to have the President come, and Bourne wouldn't have dared show his face in Oregon if the President had turned down that State when it demanded his presence in Portland, Salem and at as many other places as he could include.

That's really all there was to it. The spontaneous demand had spread over the entire country and every other letter that came to the entire country and every other letter that came to the White House was one insisting upon a visit from Mr. Taft. Yielding to the pressure, arrangements for the trip were undertaken at the President's behest. The itinerary became more extensive from day to day. Political considerations had not the slightest place in the preparation. The President's trip is as non-partisan of purpose as the President's peace propaganda, as his advocacy of reciprocity, as the other policies which have made for the greatness of his administration.

He'll have to make speeches, of course, and they will not be timid, colorless utterances. They will be full of meat and substance and the people who wanted to see their President will have an opportunity to gauge him by his words. But he didn't arrange this tour because he was athirst for the hustlings. That isn't why he is crossing the continent "invading the strongholds of insur-

ECZEMA

One of the Most Stubborn and Annoying of all Skin Troubles, Now Being Eradicated by Sulfosol.

The word eczema means to "boil out." It is a catarrhal inflammation of the skin, showing a red, irritable, raw-looking fluid exuded surface, which on drying forms scabs. TO REPRODUCE NOTED BATTLE

Realistic Encounter to Take Place In November.

THE BATTLE OF TIPPECANOE

Details Are Now Being Arranged, With the State's Assistance, For Reproduction of Historic Conflict Between the Forces of "Old Tip" and Tecumseh's Braves Near Lafayette—Gov. ernor Marshall Will Attend.

Indianapolis, Oct. 4.—Governor Marshall, in answer to a request from a special committee from Lafayette in charge of the preparations for observing the 100th anniversary of the battle of Tippecanoe, Nov. 6 and 7, has agreed to help the committee in obtaining blank cartridges to be used in a mimic battle to be staged on the Tippecanoe battlefield, reproducing as nearly as possible the fight between the federal forces under General William Henry Harrison and the Indians under command of the Prophet. Brigadier General Charles A. Garrard, quartermaster general of the Indiana national guard, has gone to Lafayette to confer with President Stone of Purdue university concerning the ammunition needs of the Purdue cadets, who will represent the federal forces, and the committee from the Order of Red Men, who will have 300 members to represent the Indians. In addition to helping supply the ammunition, the governor told the committee he would attend the celebration and make an address.

Fifteen hundred dollars has been appropriated by the county of Tippecanoe and city of Lafayette for the celebration of the centennial.

DESERVED MEDAL

This Is What Court Told Man Accused of Killing Cats.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 4.—W. E. Elston was arraigned before Judge Batt for discharging firearms inside the city, the owner of cats he had killed causing his arrest. Elston told the court that cats had killed nearly one hundred of his chickens and with a rifle he laid in wait and shot eleven cats.

"Dismissed," said Judge Batt. "You ought to have a medal. The cats have been killing my chickens, too, about as fast as they are hatched."

MANSLAUGHTER

Verdict Returned by Jury in Conover Murder Case.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 4.—The jury in the trial of George Greenleaf, who shot Ralph Conover, sr., two years ago, firing through a window of Conover's house when he says he saw Conover abusing his wife and Ralph Conover, jr., returned a verdict of manslaughter. Indictments against Mrs. Conover and young Conover as accessories have been quashed.

Boy Killed by Whisky.

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 4.—Ernest Webber, seventeen years old, was sent by a liveryman to bring a horse from the pasture, and on the way out he overtook three men, who rode in the wagon with him and two other boys. The strangers gave the boys whisky and soon after drinking it Webber became unconscious and died. The three men, who work in a construction camp, were arrested. It is thought the liquor was poisoned.

Attempted Murder Charged.

Boonville, Ind., Oct. 4.—Henry Meyers, a farmer of Tennyson, has been arrested and brought to Boonville, charged with attempting to murder William Gentry at Tennyson. Meyers was attacked, beaten insensible and shot three times. Meyers says Gentry cut the harness from off his horse as he was on his way to call on his girl.

Rodgers to Renew Flight.

Huntington, Ind., Oct. 4.—C. P. Rodgers, the coast-to-coast aviator whose aeroplane was wrecked here Monday shortly after his start for Chicago, will not be able to get away from this city before tomorrow. Repairs to the machine are under way and Rodgers hopes to be able to resume his air journey early tomorrow morning.

Remonstrance Nullifies Vote.

Winamac, Ind., Oct. 4.—Judge Francis J. Vurpillat upheld the remonstrance which had been filed to prevent the issuing of a saloon license in Tippecanoe township. The township voted "wet" in June and a remonstrance was filed to keep out the saloons.

Murdered by Footpads.

Princeton, Ind., Oct. 4.—The body of Frank Young, aged twenty-nine, son of Mrs. Hattie Young of this place, was brought home from East-St. Louis. Young was slugged and robbed there, his injuries terminating fatally.

THE PRESIDENT QUITE CONTENT

Willing to Let the Verdict Be Taken Right Now.

THE PEOPLE ARE WITH TAFT

Continued Evidence of Deep-Seated Pro-Taft Feeling Is Brought Out in the Progress of the President's Journey Through the West—Everywhere His Reception Has Been of a Character to Demonstrate This.

BY GUS J. KARGER.

Aboard the Taft Special, Oct. 4.—At a dinner given in his honor at the Wapello Club, in Ottumwa, Ia., right in the heart of the "enemy's country"—and right where the "enemies" in question were trying to cheer their blooming heads off in honor of President William Howard Taft and where the said "enemies" gave him flowers and crowded the streets and brought out the children and fought for the privilege of shaking his hand and bidding him godspeed—right there, under these "depressing" circumstances, President Taft delivered himself of a felicitous after dinner address, inspired by the kindly greeting and the applause that had just been his. "After what has been said," he declared, "I would rather let the verdict be taken right now. I used to try cases with my father sometimes, and with that wide conception of my own knowledge of the law, and my conviction that I could add to what the judge knew about it, when he was indicating that he wished to go with us, I would rise to suggest to him a reason for the purpose he indicated, only to find my father pulling me down in my seat and saying: 'Will, don't you know enough to know that when the court is going with you to let it go?'"

Illuminates the Situation.

That happy little anecdote illuminates the situation more clearly than volumes of painstaking argument could do. We have visited more than half a dozen states. Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska were supposed to be insurgent. Suggestions had come that Mr. Taft's reception in some of these states—more especially the "insurgent" ones—would be cold and formal. The suggestion, or threat, did not deter the president. He seemed to realize at the outset—if he didn't at the outset, he did before we left Iowa—that in this regard the wish had been father to the thought. For in the territory heretofore branded as most radically insurgent, the people have been most demonstratively enthusiastic. If Mr. Taft's trip had been undertaken merely for the purpose of sounding the sentiment of the country, he might well adopt the advice given him by his father, as related at the Ottumwa dinner, and "let it go."

Perfect Candor and Sincerity.

But the purpose of the president goes much beyond that, and another month of travel is before him. And wherever he has gone he has delighted the vast crowds to whom he has spoken by the candor and the sincerity of his manner and the earnestness of his desire to take them into his confidence. "If you are in office," he said to a Nebraska audience, "if you have been trying to do things that you deem to be right, and if you think you can add a little light to show why they are right, there is a very strong feeling in your breast of a desire for expression, and if you can make that expression of a character that shall not be denunciatory, that shall not be partisan in form, but merely in a quasi-judicial way to state your reasons for your action, I believe it helps to clarify the situation. The president is more than a mere titular head of the government with cabinet ministers who alone are responsible. He is responsible himself, not only for himself, but for his cabinet ministers, and I think, under the Anglo-Saxon method of trying criminals, they are entitled to be heard before they are condemned."

Has the Crowds With Him.

Wherever he resorts to that form of introduction, there is applause, or, better still, a settling down in their seats of an expectant and obviously sympathetic audience. Usually this exordium leads him to a discussion of the tariff veto, the one particular subject on which discussion was most constantly in demand. The clearness and simplicity with which he explained his tariff action made so direct an appeal to the intelligence and fair play of his audience, that it has never failed of effect. All through this "insurgent" country he has made that speech, and all through this country audiences have followed his words in respectful attention to the very end. I have seen a crowd of 6,000 remain to the end in an Iowa rainstorm. I have seen an audience of 10,000 stand in the blistering Kansas sun and not melt away, even at the tricks of oratory that lead the speaker to an occasional climax in order to give opportunity for outbursts of applause. President Taft hurries on to the end of his narrative, permitting no interruption even when, with emphasis, he declares: "And I'm going to veto any bill I don't approve, as long as I'm president of the United States."

SOCIETY IS OLD INSTITUTION

Indiana State Horticultural Organization is Factor in Hoosier Land Development For 75 Years.

AT WORK WAY BACK IN 1847

Coming Apple Show in Indianapolis

Week of Nov. 6 Will be Its Diamond Jubilee.

The Indiana State Horticultural Society, behind the movement for the apple show in Indianapolis, opening Nov. 6, is one of the oldest and most substantial institutions in the State, it having for 75 years been a highly important factor in the development of the Hoosier land. Before Johnny Appleseed, the father of Indiana apple orchards, was in his grave in 1847, the society was at its work of developing the state's fruit resources, and the coming show will really be a celebration of its diamond jubilee and the most elaborate exposition it has ever held. In promoting apple culture, the society has as the years have gone by had to contend with constantly increasing odds in the way of orchard enemies, which have not ravaged the orchards but discouraged the growers until they learned how to combat these evils.

The first orchards planted in the Middle West were started by Johnny Appleseed, or John Chapman, who obtained his seed from the cider mills of Western Pennsylvania and scattered them along the streams and through the woods of the Indiana wilderness. From his day to this it has been evident to members of the society that Indiana has both soil and climate for fruit culture, and what is needed now is to revive the spirit and determination of the pioneers who brought the first orchards into bearing. This revival is expected to come through the apple show.

Henry Ward Beacher, then living in Indianapolis, in 1843 stated there were 18 nurseries in the state, selling apple trees at 10 cents each and pear trees at 20 cents, and doing a good business, "while the long summers, brilliantly clear atmosphere, great warmth and dryness during the fall ripening months, give our fruit great size, color and flavor." When the society met in 1844, 130 varieties of Hoosier-grown apples were exhibited.

In these days most of the pests now contended with had not appeared in the orchards. The San Jose scale was still in western Asia. The Codling moth, while known in eastern orchards, had not caught up with the westward march of the apple and the virgin soil was undepleted of its stores of plant food. The pioneer growers saw little and knew less of the fungus disease. Apple growing was apparently unhampered by the effort and scientific thought that is necessary now. Perfect, ripened fruit was the reward, not dollars and cents, brought the rewards which the pioneers sought.

neer conditions, as forests were cleared, railroads and highways were built, and as settlements became thicker, the codling moth, the curculio came over the routes followed by the inflowing population, without doubt coming in the fruit and trees brought by the settlers. As the distance between the orchards became less, the enemies of fruit and trees multiplied and found it possible to travel by easy stages from one part of the stage to another, leaving infested and diseased orchards in their trail.

In recent years the apple grower has found ways and means of fighting the enemies of fruit and the past summer has seen unremitting warfare waged in about every county. Spraying, carefully observations and study have all gone far to give the growers the upper hand against the pests. While there is more work and thought involved in apple cultivation today than 50 years ago, growers who are mastering the calling of horticulture are winning a wealth of satisfaction from perfected crops, and this satisfaction will be strongly in evidence in the glowing arrays of apples which will be spread before the public at the coming show.

FUGITIVE WOMEN WELL PROTECTED

Three Deputy Sheriffs Slept From Ambush.

Middlesboro, Ky., Oct. 4.—While attempting to serve subpoenas on Jennie Danny and another woman, wanted as witnesses in the Pineville circuit court, to testify in connection with the murder of Denny Barnett, James Collins and his two sons, Owen and Samuel, all deputy sheriffs, were killed.

The Collinses went to Shawnee, Tenn., where they met W. J. Tucker, sheriff of Lee county. The women had been located by Sheriff Tucker and the officers started through the hills to the isolated building containing the women. Collins and his two sons, with two Lee county deputies, were stationed on the outside, while Sheriff Tucker and his son broke down the door and rushed into the house.

The women screamed and from the hillside shots poured upon the officers. Sam and Owen Collins were instantly killed and the father fatally wounded, but he and the two Lee county officers took refuge in the house, where the elder Collins died a few hours later. The women escaped.

High-Heeled Shoes.

The managers of the Pennsylvania company undoubtedly know how to run a great railroad system. But they are making a mistake if they think that for this reason they can also run women's ways.

The claims department of the company has made the important discovery that the high heels of women's fashionable shoes are dangerous to the wearers. During the past six months it has been called upon to settle seventy-three cases in which women passengers were injured because their high heels caught on the steps of cars. With masculine directness and obtuseness it has issued a circular calling attention to this fact and suggesting that the women cut on the unnecessary drain on the company's treasury for damages and at the same time obtain greater safety for themselves by wearing a less stilted kind of underpinning.

How much attention is it to be expected that women will vouchsafe this recommendation? About as much as they have given the injunction not to alight from street cars while facing the rear. Fully as much as they have given the unfeeling masculine jeers at the hobble skirt and the startling creations they call hats. And it is a good thing for the men that this is so.

If women decided everything according to the masculine "rules of the game," the men would so often get feminine scorn and indifference where now they receive sympathy and coddling for their sins, their blunders and their wounded vanity, that life would seem hardly worth the living. It will become selfish man to scoff at "woman's sweet unreason."

Dependence on Harvests.

However young America may make fun of Uncle Reuben, the success or the failure of the latter in storing away the products of the soil in his granaries, determines the question whether living shall be easy or hard in the country for the coming year.

The flippant attitude of the city people toward the rural population, therefore, is very much as when a man makes fun of his own mother.

Not merely is it poor taste to deride classes of our population on whose efforts we are all dependent. But actually the ridicule showered upon people living in rustic surroundings comes back to straiten the lives of all of us, whether we indulge in these cheap flings or not.

It is not unlikely that the biggest single cause of high food prices is the drift of young people to the cities. Farms have gone to seed, and demand for agricultural products has exceeded supply. It does little good to berate Congress and Legislatures, when by our contemptuous attitude, we are doing the best we can to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.

Many country people testify that one of the most efficient means for driving young people off the farm is the jokes and cartoons aimed by cheap wits at the farmer.

The Greensburg Democrat has stuck its beak into the political question again and in an article yesterday seeks to arouse dissension among the Republicans by pointing out that some of the Republican stalwarts of Decatur county have not received an invitation to the smoker and love feast which will be held here next Tuesday night. As a matter of fact the mailing of some four thousand personal invitations is no small task and it has not yet been completed. We do not know whether or not the Republican which the Democrat mentions has been invited but it is likely that he would come without being urged in a personal letter. For the information of Mr. Kaler we would also say that all of the Republican editors in Greensburg and all of them in Central Indiana for that matter, have been invited and answers indicate that most of them will be here. Again we suggest that our friend who used to aviate about this city, not go off half-cocked the next time.

A very amusing incident occurred at the city council meeting last night and one that created quite a laugh. Dr. Parsons was responsible for the laugh. It was his amendment to the motion to give the horse show people permission to use the streets during the coming show. His amendment was that the permission be granted from the council as individuals and not as a city council. It was his desire to take the responsibility from the city and the rest of the "city dads" fell for the absurdity. It is the impossibility of the thing that is amusing. Just where the individual members came in with the permission business is hard to see. How a member of the common council of the city of Rushville has any more power, when it comes to individual rights, than any other citizen and as individuals grant permission to use the streets, is one big joke.

Dr. Parsons had the right "dope" about taking the responsibility from the council's shoulders, but it is the absurdity of the thing as expressed by his amendment. It may be taken from his amendment that Rushville will be without the services of a city council during horse show week. This manner of procedure has the recall beat a block.

EDITORIALETTES.

In other words, Doc. Gwinn will have to live in John Hiner's livery barn if he wants to remonstrate against the paving of Perkins street.

Just now the city council is engaged in deciding the most important question, "When is a man a resident of a street?"

Even some of our most dignified citizens will stoop to do some things that a small boy wouldn't consider. We refer to the incident at the corner of the alley between the bank building and the Caldwell furniture store about noon today.

Telephone girl is heroine in the Austin dam disaster, says a news dispatch. Central, no doubt, is very familiar with dams, with her frequent occasion to remark that the line is busy.

While practicing economy is, so to speak and as it were, our favorite fall sport, it is about as much fun as taking pneumonia. Of course, if you get that, you shouldn't take it very far.

It's one of life's little ironies, Martha, that the world reserves all of its big prizes for one thing, and that is initiative. Initiative is doing the right thing without being told.

And, next to doing the right thing without being told, is doing it after you are told once.

Maybe we don't keep up on these little matters, but on the square, will Perkins street be paved or will it not?

"SHERMAN DAY" TO BE BIG EVENT

George W. Stout, Political Writer on Indianapolis Star, Writes of Vice-President's Proposed Visit.

GREETING TO BE NON-PARTISAN

No "Booms" Will be Permitted to Smoulder at Republican Love Feast in the Evening.

George W. Stout, political writer on the Indianapolis Star, said this morning in an article under a Rushville date line:

The school children of this city will sing songs of welcome to "Sunny Jim" Sherman of Utica, N. Y., when that distinguished citizen appears in the public square, Oct. 10, to take part in a big nonpartisan celebration in his honor.

The Vice-President of the United States is to come as the guest of James E. Watson. Rushville will assume the part of host extraordinary to the vice-president. The afternoon doings at the court house yard will be nonpartisan. There will be offered the open-hearted greetings of the citizenship regardless of politics.

One of the speakers at the afternoon affair will be United States Senator John Worth Kern of Indianapolis, a Democrat. Mr. Sherman will speak also and there will be other addresses, all of a nonpolitical kind.

At the afternoon celebration a body of school children will be conspicuous to lend emphasis to the idea that politics is barred and that "welcome" is one big, accented word.

Former Representative "Jim" Watson, a "Jim" of the "sunny" school himself, has made frequent visits to Utica, where Mr. Sherman lives and has been Sherman's guest. The trip of the vice-president to this city is by way of a return visit.

Mr. Watson will meet Mr. Sherman at Indianapolis, and a nonpartisan or bi-partisan reception committee will be with him. Mr. Sherman will reach Indianapolis over the Big Four from Utica, Tuesday, October 10.

Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall, Democrat, of this city, and Mr. Watson, Republican, will be prominent in the committee that will meet Mr. Sherman at the Indianapolis Union station.

It is expected that Senator Kern will come to this city from Indianapolis with the party.

The political phase of the Vice-President's visit will be made prominent Tuesday night, when a "smoker" for Republicans will be held at the coliseum, where there is capacity for 2,500 persons.

Representative Watson and the Republicans who are arranging for the big "smoker" say that all Republicans are heartily welcome to attend and take part. No "booms" will be permitted in the hall. Persons suspected of having "booms" concealed about their draperies will be frisked scientifically before they are permitted to enter. It is to be understood that the affair is not to be used for the boosting of persons or projects, but that it is to be an old-fashioned Republican meeting in the behoof and for the glory of the Republican party.

Joseph G. Cannon of Danville, Ill., former speaker of the National House of Representatives and long-time close friend and political chum of Watson and Sherman is to be on hand, and will be one of the orators. Charles W. Fairbanks, former Vice-president of the United States, has been invited to speak. Charles W. Miller of Indianapolis, United States district attorney, is on the program. James A. Hemenway, another of the "Jims" who made themselves known at Washington, in the one-time Republican heyday, will come up from Boonville and the First district to be present and to talk to the assembled Republicans.

Otis E. Gulley of Danville, Ind., one of the best orators in this part of the State, will make a speech. Mr. Gulley was the Republican candidate for secretary of State last year. Oscar E. Bland of Linton, former State senator and candidate in 1910 for congress in the Second district, also is on the program.

All the Republican State candidates of 1910 have been invited to be present and the Republican candidates for congress from the various districts also have been asked especially to attend.

John K. Gowdy of this city, veteran Republican hustler and one time famous State chairman of the Republican party organization in Indiana, is in charge of arrangements for the Republican "smoker."

The Democrats of Rush county are organized for a blowout of their own the evening of October 10, and they propose to make Senator Kern the big figure at their "smoker," which will be held at the Woodmen hall in this city.

Wednesday, October 11, the Sherman party will travel by auto to New Castle, where the Nipp and Tuck club will take charge of a nonpartisan entertainment. It is expected that Governor Marshall and Senator B. F. Shively of South Bend will be among the guests at New Castle. A big feature will be a chicken fry by the Nipp and Tuck Club at noon. The celebration of the day at New Castle will be held in the afternoon at the public square.

The debt of the association consists of two notes, one for $500 and another for $250, both signed by the directors of the association.

After the report had been read, F. E. Wolcott moved that the reports be received and filed and that an auditing committee be appointed by the president to go over the reports. The president appointed Anna L. Bohannon, E. B. Thomas and Herbert C. Flint.

The directors were not elected last night because a representative body of the stockholders was not in attendance and in light of the fact that it is planned to arrange a different method of electing directors. It was planned to elect three new directors this year to serve three years. Next year three new directors will be elected again and so on the next year. In that manner six old directors will be on the board all the time and only three inexperienced members will be on. The directors elect the officers from their body.

NEW CASTLE WILL COME EN MASSE

Many Will be in Rushville For Republican Smoker and Will Remain Over Night.

TO GO BACK WITH SHERMAN

"Invitations to the Republican smoker and love feast, which James E. Watson will give on the night of Tuesday, October 10, at his home in Rushville have been received in this city in the shape of personal letters from Mr. Watson," says the New Castle Courier.

"In the invitation it is announced that speeches will be made by Joseph G. Cannon, former speaker of the house; Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice-president; James A. Hemenway, former senator from Indiana; W. T. Durbin, former governor; Lew Shank, mayor of Indianapolis; Hon. Charles W. Miller, United States district attorney; Otis Gulley, candidate for secretary of State in the last campaign; Senator Oscar Bland and others."

After reproducing a part of the letter from Mr. Watson, the Courier says: "Many from here will participate in the meeting and will remain in Rushville over night to accompany the vice-president to New Castle for the reception next day. It is highly probable that all Mr. Watson's distinguished guests will accompany Mr. Sherman to New Castle."

George W. Young, another attorney for the petitioners, told the council that the whole proceedings were wrong because they had passed on the preliminary resolution and no remonstrance had been filed within the necessary ten days. According to Mr. Young the council was now ready to advertise for bids and go ahead with the improvement. He said this was according to the 1911 statute. Under this law Mr. Young stated that the remonstrators had to have 80 per cent of the resident property owners.

The three attorneys gave the council all the different laws on the question from 1905 up to and including the 1911 statute and the council called on City Attorney Barrett for his advice. Mr. Barrett stated that in his opinion it took a majority of the resident property owners to make the remonstrance good and then the council could order the improvement by passing an ordinance by a two-thirds vote of the council and the signature of the mayor. Mr. Barrett was in favor of looking up the titles and determining who should win. He will meet the attorneys and the records of the titles in the court house will be looked into and reported Friday night.

The first part of the council meeting was rather tame and nothing of great importance was transacted. Joe Lakin asked for permission to connect his house in the Stewart & Tompkins addition to Belmont with the city sewer, but the request was delayed as the council stated it was not decided yet where Perkins street was to be in the new addition.

City Clerk Cauley stated that the I. & C. traction company had agreed to place gravel on their roadbed in West Seventh street. The mention of the I. & C. recalled the fact that the council had once ordered them to stop their cars at Main street. Cauley said Will M. Frazier told him that the cars were being run slow at the crossing. Councilman Kelley said they did this for about two days and then forgot all about the order and that now they ran very fast over the crossing. He moved that the traction company be ordered to stop all cars at both the Main and Perkins street crossings. The city clerk will notify the I. & C.

Mayor Black reported that he had turned in $105 docket fees and $58 in fines. The report was ordered placed on file. The city treasurer's report for September was ordered referred to the finance committee. Superintendent of the water and light plant, Mahin, reported to the council the sale of two old boilers to a Cincinnati firm for $200. The council approved the sale.

The citizens' committee appointed by the Merchants' Association, wrote to the council asking for a date on which to confer on the factory question. It was moved that Mayor Black select the date. Councilman Moore and Newhouse voted against this and as the vote was a tie the Mayor cast deciding vote. Mr. Newhouse explained his vote by saying that the question might as well be decided at once and could see no reason for a delay. Mr. Moore was of the same opinion. Dr. Parsons arose to a point of order and put an end to the discussion.

The council approved a contract with Francis Bros. calling for electricity at 2 cents a kilowatt for a period of five years. A. T. Mahin told the council that there was a demand for better lights at the Arthur and Sexton street crossings of the C. H. & D. railroad. The railroad will be ordered to maintain lights at these two streets as they do at the others in the city.

A discussion arose as to whether or not the council had a right to give the Horse Show Association permission to string wires to the poles of the cluster lights for decorative purposes. The Association agreed to pay all damages and have the work done by a responsible lineman. Councilman Parsons desired to know if they could grant the privilege and not violate the ordinance. The ordinance stated that it was unlawful to tack, nail or paste signs to the poles and as this will not be done the ordinance was side stepped and permission given. The Horse Show Association also asked for the use of Main street from Third street to the mill race, Second street from Perkins to Morgan street and First street, for the same distance. Councilman Newhouse moved that they be granted permission and Parsons amended the motion. His amendment was that the privilege be granted as individuals and not by members of the city council. He stated that in this way the city could not be held responsible. The motion and amendment carried.

"Letty Lane? She wouldn't go."
"Why not?"
"She is awfully delicate; it is all she can do to keep her contracts."
He knows that, Ruggles thought. "Let's ask her and see." He went over to the table and drew out the paper. "Come on and write and ask her to go out with us to supper."
"See here, Rug, what's this for?"
"What's strange in it? She is from our state, and if you don't hustle and ask her I am going to ask her all alone."

Dan was puzzled as he sat down to the table, reflecting that it was perfectly possible that old Ruggles had fallen a prey to the charms of an actress. She wouldn't come, of course. He wrote a formal invitation without thinking very much of what he said or how, folded and addressed his note. "What did you say?" Ruggles asked eagerly.

"Why, that two boys from home wanted to give her a supper."

"Well," said Ruggles, "if the answer comes while you are at the club I'll open it and give the orders. Think she'll come?"

"I do not," responded Dan rather brutally. "She's got others to take her out to supper, you bet your life."

"Well, there's none of them as rich as you are, I reckon, Dan."

And the boy turned on him violently. "See here, Josh, if you speak to me again of my money, when there's a woman in the question—"

He did not finish his threat, but snatched up his coat and hat and slammed it after him. Mr. Ruggles' profound and happy snore was cut short by the page boy, who fetched in a note, with the Savoy stamping on the back. Ruggles opened it not without emotion.

"Dear boy," it ran, "I haven't yet thanked you for the primroses; they were perfectly sweet. There is not one of them in any of my rooms, and I'll tell you why tonight. I am crazy to accept for supper—here she had evidently struck out her intended refusal, and closed with, 'I'm coming, but don't come after me at the Gaiety, please. I'll meet you at the Carlton after the theater. Who's the other boy? L. L.'"

The "other boy" read the note with much difficulty, for it was badly written. "He'll have to stop sending her flowers and going every night to the theater unless he wants a row with the duchess," he said dryly. And with a certain interest in his role, Ruggles rang for the head waiter, and with the man's help ordered his first midnight supper for an actress.

CHAPTER XI.

Ruggles Gives a Dinner.

The bright tide of worldly London flows after and around midnight into the various restaurants and supper rooms, and as well through the corridors and halls of the Carlton. At one of the small tables bearing a great expensive bunch of orchids and soft ferns, Josh Ruggles, in a new evening dress, sat waiting for his party. Dan had dined with Lord Gateorey, and the two men had gone out together afterward, and Ruggles had not seen the boy to give him Letty Lane's note.

"Got it with you?" Blair asked when he came in, and Ruggles responded that he didn't carry love letters around in his dress clothes.

They could tell by the interest in the room when the actress was coming, and both men rose as Letty Lane floated in at flood tide with a crowd of last arrivals.

She was not dressed this evening with the intention that her dark simplicity of attire should be conspicuous. The cloak which Dan took from her shed the perfume of orris and revealed the woman in a blaze of sparkling paillettes. She seemed made out of sparkle, and her blond head, from which a bright ornament shook, was the most brilliant thing about her, though her dress from hem to throat glistened with discs of gold like moonshine on a starry sea. The actress' look of surprise when she saw Ruggles indicated that she had not expected a boy of his age.

"The other boy?" she asked. "Well, this is the nicest supper party ever! And you are awfully good to invite me."

Ruggles patted his shirt front and adjusted his cravat.

"My idea," he told her, "all the blame on me, Miss Lane. Charge it up to me! Dan here had cold feet from the first. He said you wouldn't come."

She laughed deliciously. "He did? Hasn't much faith, has he?"

Miss Lane drew her long gloves off, touched the orchids with her little hands, on which the ever present rings flashed, and went on talking to Ruggles, to whom she seemed to want to address her conversation.

"I'm simply crazy over these flowers."

The older man showed his pleasure. "My choice again! Waked up myself and chose the bunch, blame me again; ditto dinner; mine from start to finish—hope you'll like it. I would have added some Montana peas and some chocolate soda water, only I thought you might not understand the joke."

Miss Lane beamed on him. Although he was unconscious of it, she was not fully at ease; he was not the kind of man she had expected to see. Accustomed to young fellows like the boy and their mad devotion, accustomed to men with whom she could be herself, the big, bluff, middle-aged gentleman with his painfully correct tie, his rumpled iron-gray hair and his deference to her, though an unusual diversion, was a little embarrassing.

"Oh, I know your dinner is ripping, Mr. Ruggles. I'm on a diet of milk and eggs myself, and I expect your order didn't take in those." But at his fallen countenance she hurried to say "Oh, I wouldn't have told you that if I hadn't been intending to break through."

And with childlike anticipation she clapped her hands and said: "We're going to have lots of fun. Just think, they don't know what that means here in London. They say 'heaps of sport, you know.' She imitated the accent maliciously. "It's just we Americans who know what 'lots of fun' is, isn't it?"

Near her Dan Blair's young eyes were drinking in the spectacle of delicate beauty beautifully gowned, of soft skin, glorious hair, and he gazed like a child at a pantomime. Under his breath he exclaimed now, with effusion, "You bet your life we are going to have lots of fun!" And turning to him, Miss Lane said:

"Six chocolate sodas running?"

"Oh, don't," he begged, "not that kind of jag."

She shook with laughter. "Are you from Blairtown, Mr. Ruggles? I don't think I ever saw you there."

And the Westerner returned: "Well, from what Dan tells me, you're not much of a fixture yourself, Miss Lane. You were just about born and then kidnapped."

Her gay expression faded. And she repeated his word, "Kidnaped? That's a good word for it, Mr. Ruggles."

A good word for it, Mr. Ruggles. She picked up between her fingers a strand of the green fern, and looked at its delicate tracery as it lay on the palm of her hand.

"I sang one day after a missionary sermon in the Presbyterian Church."

"He Took Me Every Night to See You Dance Until I Balked, Miss Lane."

She interrupted herself with a short laugh. "But I guess you're not thinking of writing my biography, are you?"

And it was Dan's voice that urged her. "Say, do go on. I was there that day with my father, and you sang simply out of sight."

"Yes," she accepted, "out of sight of Blairtown and everybody I ever knew. I went away the next day." She lifted her glass of champagne to her lips. "Here's one thing I oughtn't to do," she said, "but I'm going to just the same. I'm going to do everything I want this evening. Remember, I let you drink six glasses of chocolate soda once." She drained her glass and her friends drank with her. "I like this soup awfully. What is it?"—just touching it with her spoon.

"Why," Ruggles hastened to tell her, "it ain't a party soup, it's Scotch broth. But somehow it sounded good on the bill of fare. I fixed the rest of the dinner up for you and Dan, but I let myself go on the soup, it's my favorite."

She did not eat it, however, although she said it was splendid and that she was crazy about it.

"Did you come East then?" Dan returned to what she had been saying. "Yes, that week; went to Paris and all over the place."

She instantly fell into a sort of melancholy. It was easy to be seen that she did not want to talk about her past and yet that it fascinated her.

"Just think of it!" he exclaimed. "I never heard a word about you until I heard you sing the other night."

The actress laughed and told him that he had made up for lost time, and that he was a regular "sitter" now at the Gaiety.

Ruggles said, "He took me every night to see you dance until I balked, Miss Lane."

"Still, it's a perfectly great show, Mr. Ruggles, don't you think so? I like it better than any part I ever nao. "I am interested about it for the sake of the man who wrote it, too. It's his first opera; he's an invalid and has a wife and five kids to look after."

And Ruggles replied, "Oh, gracious! I feel better than ever, having gone ten times, although I wasn't very sore about it before! Ain't you going to eat anything?"

She only picked at her food, drinking what they poured in her glass, and every time she spoke to Dan a look of charming kindness crossed her face, an expression of good fellowship which Ruggles noted with interest.

"I wish you could have seen this same author today at the rehearsal of the play," Letty Lane went on. "He's too ill to walk and they had to carry him in a chair. We all went round to his apartments after the theater. He lives in three rooms with his whole family and he's had so many debts and so much trouble and such a poor contract that he hasn't made much out of "Mandalay," but I guess he will out of this new piece. He hugged and kissed me until I thought he would break my neck."

London had gone mad over Letty Lane, whose traits and contour were the admiration of the world at large and well-known even to the newsboys, and whose likeness was fearfully familiar as that of the Madonnas of old. Her face was oval and perfectly formed, with the reddest of mouths—the most delicious and softest of mouths—the line of her brows clear and straight, and her gray eyes large and as innocent and appealing as a child's; under their long lashes they opened up like flowers. It was said that no man could withstand their appeal; that she had but to look to make a man her slave; and as more than once she turned to Dan, smiling and gracious, Ruggles watched her, mutely thinking of what he had heard this day, for after her letter came accepting their invitation he had taken pains to find out the things he wanted to know. It had not been difficult. As her face and form were public, on every post-card and in every photographer's shop, so the actress' reputation was the property of the public.

As Ruggles repeated these things to himself, he watched her beside the son of his old friend. They were talking—rather she was—and behind the orchids and the ferns her voice was sweet and enthralling. Ruggles tried to appreciate his bill of fare while the two appreciated each other. It was strange to Dan to have her so near and so approachable. His sights of her off the stage had been so slight and fleeting. On the boards she had seemed to be an unreal creation made for the public alone. Her dress, cut fearlessly low, displayed her lovely young bosom—soft, bloomy, white as a shell—and her head and ears were as delicate as the petals of a white rose. Low in the nape of her neck, her golden hair lay lightly, and from its soft masses fragrance came to him.

Ruggles could hear her say: "Roach came to the house and told my people that I had a fortune in my voice. I was living with my uncle and my step-aunt and working in the store. And that same day your father sent down a check for five-hundred dollars. He said it was 'for the little girl with the sweet voice,' and it gives me a lot of pleasure to think that I began my lessons on that money."

ACT QUICKLY

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Rushville.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. Backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Plenty of evidence to prove this. Harrison Levi, 931 North Sexton street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I have nothing but praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, for they have been of great benefit to me. I was subject to attacks of kidney trouble and no doubt the complaint was brought on by the hardships I endured while in the war. I had severe pains in my back and the kidney secretions were irregular in passage. This weakness disturbed my rest and I knew that something must be done. Three years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and procuring a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store I began their use. In a short time the backache and kidney weakness disappeared and I was in much better health. I cannot say that I am completely cured, but I know that I can rely on Doan's Kidney Pills for relief. I have previously given a public statement in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills and I gladly endorse them again."

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and Your Gray Hair Will Quickly Vanish.

Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will offset the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. Nothing has ever been found more effective for this purpose than these two time-honored remedies, but Wyeth, a modern chemist, has combined the two with other ingredients, which makes a delightful dressing for the hair, and which not only removes every trace of dandruff but promotes the growth of the hair. It also stops the hair from falling out, and makes it beautiful.

All druggists are authorized to refund the money if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair and don't resort to old-time hair dyes. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist to-day, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' use. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists, Rushville, Indiana.

Lame back is one of the most common forms of muscular rheumatism. A few applications of Chamberlain's Liniment will give relief. For sale by All Dealers.

Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists.

You are not experimenting on yourself when you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a cold as that preparation has won its greatest reputation and extensive sale by its remarkable cures of colds, and can always be depended upon. It is equally valuable for adults and children and may be given to young children with implicit confidence as it contains no harmful drug. Sold by All Dealers.

The best plaster. A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on over the affected parts is superior to a plaster and costs only one tenth as much. For sale by All Dealers.

CONCRETE DAM WAS NOT SAFE

People of Austin Had Long Known Their Peril.

A SCANDAL IS THREATENED

With Promises of a Searching Investigation on the Part of the State It Looks as Though the Lid Is to Be Really Lifted From the Scandal of the Bayless Dam—Governor Tener Will Himself Make Investigation.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 4.—From the scandal of the Bayless dam it looks as though the lid was to be really lifted and the story told of how the dwellers in the Sinnamahoning valley, before their homes were given over to flood and fire, lived in constant dread of the ill-constructed concrete barrier that for two years alone intervened between them and death and ruin. Harry W. Nelson, the district attorney of Potter county, said that he would exercise the power of coroner and would hold an inquest which would include a searching investigation of the causes which led up to the breaking of the dam. The district attorney declared that the bad condition of the Bayless dam before it finally broke and swept two thriving communities to destruction was too serious a matter for a justice of the peace to investigate, and that he had decided to impanel a jury himself and personally probe the disaster.

Deputy Attorney General Hargest has been directed by Attorney General J. C. Bell of Pennsylvania to attend the inquest, and it is reported that Governor Tener will himself be present. The governor is expected to personally inspect the broken dam and the five miles of valley over which the wreckage of two towns was suddenly spilled on last Saturday.

STRANGLED BABY

Grandmother Sentenced For Five Years For Infanticide.

Parsons, W. Va., Oct. 4.—Mrs. Mary O'Day, aged fifty years, accused of killing the infant child of her daughter, Nora Merrell, at Thomas, on May 30, this year, was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter and sentenced by Judge Reynolds to serve five years in the penitentiary.

The little grandchild disappeared soon after its birth, and was found three or four days later buried underneath a stable on the premises. Both the mother and grandmother were arrested, but the mother will probably never be tried, as there is practically no evidence against her.

The infant had apparently been strangled to death with shoestrings, which were tightly wound around its neck when found.

CHANGING COLOR

Indiana Negro Is Rapidly Becoming White, It is Reported.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 4.—William Arnold, aged sixty, a colored drayman, is gradually turning white. Following an illness white spots appeared on his skin. At the same time Arnold improved in health until he is now in excellent physical condition. His body is covered with large white spots.

Members of the faculty of Indiana university have tested his blood and are now observing the various stages of his transfiguration. Their blood tests show nothing out of the normal condition.

Ginseng Bill on Trial.

Boonville, Ind., Oct. 4.—William Davis, better known as Ginseng Bill, an eccentric herb doctor, is on trial here charged with killing Ollie Carroll, the son of Frank Carroll, a wealthy farmer of this place. The state will attempt to prove that Davis killed Carroll when caught stealing corn Feb. 16.

WILEY AND WILSON REACH AGREEMENT

Government Chemist Is Given a Freer Hand.

Washington, Oct. 4.—In the enforcement of the pure food act, for the present at least, the word of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley will be law. An arrangement to this end was perfected at a conference between Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and Dr. Wiley. The board of food and drug inspection, which was the body that friends of Dr. Wiley claimed prevented an effective enforcement of the pure food law as contemplated by congress, was wiped out so far as its personnel was concerned. At his own request George B. McCabe, solicitor of the department, who was until recently the dominating spirit in connection with the enforcement of the pure food law, was relieved from further service on the inspection board. Dr. F. L. Dunlap, the associate chemist, was given a leave of absence. With Messrs. McCabe and Dunlap eliminated from consideration, Dr. Wiley remained the only member of the pure food inspection board.

Thereupon, in accordance with an agreement reached between Dr. Wiley and Secretary Wilson, a new inspection board was appointed composed of Dr. Wiley and R. E. Doolittle, chief of the bureau of chemistry laboratory in New York city, and the decisions of Messrs. Wiley and Doolittle will govern in the matter of the enforcement of the pure food and drug act.

ALL EUROPE IS BEING STIRRED

Talk of England Joining Austria In Protest.

ITALY'S DESIGNS QUESTIONED

If Troops Are Landed in Albania or Other Ports Besides Those of Tripoli or Cyrenaica Attacked, It Is Intimated That John Bull Would Find It Necessary to Take a Hand—War News Still Contradictory.

Vienna, Oct. 4.—Austria's protest to Italy has resulted in the disappearance of the Italian fleet from the Adriatic sea, where all is now quiet.

Rome, Oct. 4.—All reports of the bombardment of Tripoli received in Italy come from English sources. Nothing whatever is known at Rome of any bombardment.

Constantinople, Oct. 4.—There is complete internal and political confusion and absolute lack of trustworthy news from Tripoli and the Adriatic coast. There is an absolute disorganization of the telegraph and all of the "news" is of feverish local manufacture.

London, Oct. 4.—An agency dispatch from Corfu says that the Duke of the Abruzzi has sent an ultimatum to the governor of Prevesa, instructing him to deliver refugees to the warships or he would bombard the town.

Another agency's Constantinople correspondent telegraphs that the British minister has informed the grand vizier that England would intervene officially if Italy lands troops in Albania or attacks ports except those of Tripoli or Cyrenaica. There is no confirmation of either report, the truth of which would be of extreme gravity in view of the impatience already expressed by Austria, which has protested to the Duke of the Abruzzi of the activity of his squadron along the Albanian coast.

Italian Attitude Explained.

Rome, Oct. 4.—Indignation has been expressed in the Italian press against the condemnatory attitude of the English press toward Italy's conduct in the present situation. The Tribuna pleads that Italy was compelled to act. It also says that Italy will not stint in moral and material compensations to Turkey and will be ready to shorten the struggle, which she tried to prevent, provided that her object be fully accomplished.

Landing Finally Effected.

Milan, Oct. 4.—Telegrams received here say that Italian cruisers have entered the harbor of Tripoli and bombarded the forts ashore, the governor's castle and the highest points of the city. Soon after the bombardment a landing was effected and the Italian flag was hoisted ashore. This news is regarded as correct.

ITALIANS EXPELLED

None Will Be Permitted to Remain on Ottoman Soil.

Salonica, Oct. 4.—The Young Turks committee has been in session for twenty-four hours, and it now seems certain an order will be issued for the expulsion of all Italians from Turkey and the placing of a boycott on Italian goods. The latter, owing to an order from customs officers, have been excluded already from entry into Turkey. It is announced that the commander of the army at Adrianople has orders to be prepared quickly. All officers have been denied leave of absence. News has been received that Bulgarian papers say that the first shot fired by the Turks on the frontiers of Thessaly will be the signal for the Bulgarian army to occupy Macedonia.

Poison in Funeral Dinner.

Sanderson, Tex., Oct. 4.—The death of Juan Moreno, a well-to-do Mexican of this place, by poisoning, on his ranch near here a few days ago, was followed by the death by poisoning of five of his friends who went from here to bring in his body. The victims ate bread made from flour belonging to the dead man. All of them died on the road to town.

The Illinois legislature has convened in special session.

CATCHES FORGER WITH GOODS ON

Special Officer Gets "The Drop" on Harry Green, Youthful Fraudu-

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT HERE

Has Hand on Revolver in Pocket
When Policeman Approaches—
Gun Found on Him.

Harry Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Green of this city, the youthful forger who was captured on a traction car for drawing a fraudulent check on the Franklin National bank for $320, was a student in the Rushville high school until last Friday and his friends here were much surprised to hear of his arrest. The Columbus Republican adds the following concerning his arrest.

Ed Garrison of Union street, who is a special policeman on the Indianapolis, Columbus and Southern Traction Company with a run between this city and Indianapolis, made a good catch a few days ago when he arrested Harry Green, aged about 20 years, of Rushville, on a charge of forgery.

Green is alleged to have forged the name of a grocer at Franklin to a check for $320. The check was drawn on the First National bank of Franklin and was cashed at that bank by Green.

Officer Garrison was given a tip of the forgery and that the forger was on a car which he was riding. The officer spotted his man and observed that he kept his right hand in his right hand coat pocket. The officer approached him and the first words he said to him was to drop the revolver, which he was holding in his

TO CONFER WITH MILROY TRIP WILL COUNCIL TONIGHT BE BIG JOY PARTY

Citizens Committee From Merchants Association Will Meet City "Dads" on Fire Protection Question. Expected That Fifty Automobiles Will Make Journey to Fall Festival Thursday Night.

MAYOR CALLED THE MEETING GREENSBURG TO SEND CROWD

Mayor Black arranged this morning for a meeting tonight of the city council and the citizens committee appointed by the Merchants Association. The matter of calling the meeting was left with the mayor at the council meeting last night and as all parties desired to confer on the factory question as soon as possible, Mr. Black made arrangements with Gates Sexton, chairman of the citizens committee and set the time at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The committee of citizens will confer with the council in an effort to obtain water for fire protection for the Rushville Furniture company. The twenty-five members of the committee are invited to attend and as many as can are urged to be there. The meeting will be held in the council chamber.

Great interest is being shown in the automobile trip to the Milroy Fall Festival to be made tomorrow night. It is expected that at least fifty machines will go and from all indications the Rushville party will be shown a good time. The trip is to be one big joy party and all the owners of automobiles in this city are urged to join the procession. Greensburg has set Thursday night for the time of visiting the Festival and a large crowd from there will attend. It is the intention of the Rushville crowd to outdo the Greensburg crowd and send a larger delegation. Attractions are arriving at Milroy for the big three days event and it is said a large number is on the way. Follow the crowd to Milroy and join the joy party.

pocket. Green came up with his hand and when the officer reached into his coat pocket he found a revolver there just as he had suspected.

Officer Garrison recovered all of the $320 which Green had obtained on the forged check and he turned his prisoner over to the officers at Greensburg, since which time he has heard nothing from him.
